ERRATUM OF DSL ACCESS TELECOMMUNICATIONS ALLIANCE ("DATA")

The DSL Access Telecommunications Alliance ("DATA"), by its attorneys, respectfully submits this Erratum to its Comments filed April 6, 1998 in the above-referenced proceedings.

Due to a typographic error in the description of one of the DATA companies, DATA respectfully requests leave to replace the previously filed "page 2" with the attached "page 2."

For the convenience of the Commission and those on the service list, a new, correct version of DATA's Comments are also attached.

Respectfully submitted,

Counsel for Rhythms NetConnections, Inc.

Dated: April 7, 1998

Rhythms is a comprehensive networking solutions company that provides high speed data communications that combine high speed local access through the deployment of DSL services, with capacity balanced local and wide area networks. Rhythms entered commercial services in San Diego on April 1, 1998 after a two-month test period and is currently rolling out services in California's Bay Area as well as Los Angeles and Orange County, with plans to expand to thirty nationwide markets over the next three years.

NorthPoint is a data CLEC out of San Francisco that began operation in June, 1997. NorthPoint has been providing DSL service in the San Francisco Bay Area for several months and will soon commence service in Los Angeles, Boston and New York. It is certificated, or pending certification, as a CLEC in sixteen states, soon to be twenty, and expects to be providing service within the next two years in more than twenty-five major metropolitan areas.

Each of these companies is providing, or is seeking to provide, DSL services in competition with the incumbent local exchange carriers ("ILECs") around the nation, including Bell Atlantic ("BA"), Ameritech, and US West (collectively "Petitioners" or "RBOCs"). Consequently, DATA is extraordinarily interested in the issues presented by the RBOCs' Petitions, and can present the Commission with a unique perspective on these proposals.

INTRODUCTION

This Commission has a long and rich tradition—dating back almost forty years—of opening markets to competition. Since the Commission issued its local
